On the 24th of March, an unprecedented arts event will take place. From every corner of our local arts and entertainment scene, artists from all fields are coming together to present Greek comic master Aristophanes' 411 B.C.E. hit comedy Lysistrata to Singapore for the first time. Never before have so many of our local theatre practitioners collaborated for charity, combining their arts to express a timeless reminder to humanity - that peace is paramount.

In this riotous Greek comedy, the women of Athens and its neighbouring cities, frustrated by their husbands being away at war and scheming to keep them home, decide to put an end to the Peloponnesian War by abstaining from sex with their husbands until a peace treaty is signed. A hilarious battle of the sexes, full of erections, steamy wit and raunchy rhyme, Lysistrata is one of the most popular comedies from the Greek tradition.

Some of the stellar team of local actors, designers and composers that have pledged their time and passion to perform Lysistrata Lah! include: Ivan Heng, Emma Yong, Gerald Chew, Keagan Kang, Rodney Oliveiro, Jonathan Lim, Sean Yeo, Mime Unlimited, Christian Lee, Kevin Murphy, Adelina Ong, Pam Oei, Gene Sharudyn and Bang Wenfu.

Lysistrata Lah! is a unique charity event featuring a wildly comical, highly spontaneous semi-dramatised reading of Lysistrata. Admission is free of charge, but seating is limited and on a first-come-first-served basis, so get there early! There will be four different readings at two different venues - the Young Musicians' Society auditorium and Singapore Tyler Print Institute.

After the performance, the audience is welcome to make donations towards our selected charity - Mercy Relief (<http://www.mercyrelief.org>). Mercy Relief is a humanitarian and financial assistance project initiated by members of Perdaus in aid of orphans, the needy, and victims of wars and natural disasters, particularly within the Asian continent
